WHEREAS, By signing the ALL IN Campus Democracy Challenge pledge, Purdue committed to ensuring all eligible students would be able to register to vote and cast informed ballots in the 2020 general election and beyond, while also making a commitment to foster a campus culture that supports nonpartisan student civic learning, political engagement, and student voter participation¹. This led to the creation of Purdue’s Civics Knowledge Test, a requirement to graduate;

WHEREAS, In September of 2021, the Purdue Student Government proposed to the Purdue University Senate that “recognizing Election Day as a non-instructional day in future academic calendars would be advantageous in order to encourage civic service among the entire Purdue community”²;

WHEREAS, The Purdue University Senate determined that “while participation in primary and special elections are also an important means of civic engagement, the timing of these elections poses scheduling difficulties. Thus, these bodies would encourage instructional flexibility during these elections but do not recommend designation as non-instructional Days of Civic Service”². As reported by WLFI, “some faculty members argued the measure would be redundant due to early voting ability, others felt losing a day of instruction would be too high a cost”³;

WHEREAS, In November of 2021, Purdue University was awarded as the best Big Ten ALL IN Campus Democracy Challenge 2020 voter registration action plan winner. “The award for the Big Ten’s Best Action Plan, resulting in a 20-percentage point jump in student voter turnout to 67% in the 2020 election, was announced and presented to Purdue”⁴;

WHEREAS, In the 2024 Primary Election, Tippecanoe County reported a turnout rate of 13.01% of registered voters⁵. When considering that 13% voter turnout rate, Indiana state representative Chris Campbell commented that, “6% of the votes from Tippecanoe County have come from the university polling location. That’s enough to sway an election,”⁶;

WHEREAS, On September 25th, 2024, Purdue Student Senate unanimously passed Resolution 24-03 “Purdue Voting Accessibility” to encourage Purdue University and the Tippecanoe County Board of Elections to work together in creating a voting location for General Election Day and create more opportunities for on-campus early voting⁷. This bill expands upon the sentiment expressed in Resolution 24-03;

WHEREAS, Regarding the lack of an on-campus voting day location at Purdue during the 2024 election cycle, the Exponent reported the following: “The qualifications that Purdue has reportedly had issues with in the past . . . are parking accessibility, Purdue Police ticketing poll workers and stopping the loading and unloading of polling machines, and ‘Purdue personnel’ removing candidate signs”⁸;

WHEREAS, Purdue Student Government conducted a student survey (N=232), to which 88.7% (n=204) of Purdue students were not registered to vote in Tippecanoe County and 44.4% (n=102) had to travel to vote. Moreover, students overwhelmingly supported the creation of a voter absence policy (94.8%, n= 219) and/or a campus-wide Reading Day (89.2%, n=205). When speaking with students, multiple expressed concerns with varying departmental policies and lack of flexibility from professors as it pertains to Election Day. However, after speaking with

Purdue’s Office of Dean of Students (ODOS), staff expressed concerns about the organizational capacity to manage a high influx of Voter Absence requests;

WHEREAS, With Purdue’s lack of an election-day policy, professors are the ultimate decision-makers in determining their respective absence policies, potentially varying across faculty and academic colleges. This poses an issue concerning flexibility for Indiana voters at the University. Additionally, this raises concerns for students who are engaging in civic processes by volunteering to work at polling locations across Indiana and neighboring states;

WHEREAS, The Purdue Student Government acknowledges and appreciates Purdue University Resources and Policy Committee’s (URPC) stance that “the university will work with the county board of elections to provide facilities support for voter registration and both early and election day voting in national elections held every other year. On voting day, no quizzes or exams will be held, so if a student misses class due to long lines, they will only need notes for the day. If the university is unable to secure an adequate number of sites to provide all students, faculty and staff the opportunity to exercise their civic rights and vote in national elections on campus, then classes will be cancelled so they can go off campus to vote”⁹;

WHEREAS, If the Purdue University Senate plans to proceed with such a route, then the Purdue Student Government is supportive. However, if no voting location were to be offered on Purdue’s campus in future election cycles, students may not have the flexibility or accessibility to practice their civil duty. While Purdue University has a robust Jury Duty Policy, another vital civil duty, the University lacks a comprehensive Voter Accessibility Policy allowing for the excusal of students from in-person academic activities to vote in primary and general elections;

WHEREAS, Election Day has amplified student awareness of the need for accessible voting options on campus and robust policies to enable students to exercise their civic duty. To leverage this heightened engagement and election-day momentum, this bill merits emergency consideration by the Purdue Student Government and Purdue Graduate Student Senate.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That Purdue University distributes polling location information and poll worker volunteer opportunities to all Purdue students at least two weeks prior to primary and general elections.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That upon the advice of the Office of the Dean of Students, Purdue University designates primary and general election days (Tuesday after the first Monday in November on even-numbered years) as Asynchronous Learning Days, loosely modeled after the Reading Days utilized during the COVID-19 pandemic.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That Asynchronous Learning Days shall not impact the progression of the Purdue academic calendar and shall be considered an official day of academic learning, despite the mode of education being altered.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That Asynchronous Learning Days be designated on Election Day to prevent exams, quizzes, and mandatory in-class exercises from being scheduled which may impede a student's ability to travel to vote.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this policy shall be continually evaluated by ODOS, the Roger C. Stewart Leadership & Professional Development Department, students, professors, faculty, and other appropriate entities should changes need to be made.

PASSED, APPROVED, AND ADOPTED 17th day of November 2024.
